[Springfield (Mass.) Republican.]

There is a small specimen of humanity living at the north end who has recently begun going to Sunday-school, and who undertook to memorize this remark of Solomon: "A wise som maketh a giad father but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother." He repeated the opening installment on the first Sunday with nestness and dispatch, but when on the following week he attempted the whole it came out in fills way: "A wise son maketh a glad father, but—but a feolish son is just like his mother."

WASHINGTON CITY. Star Houte Instructions.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The president sent to the senate to-day the following letter from the late postmaster-general with regard to the responsibility of sureties upon bonds accompanying bids and contracts for gall service during the last four years:

Postoffice Dep'r, Washington, Jan. 3, 1882—Str.
I have the bonor to transmit herewith a letter from Hon. George Biles, special counsel of the United States for prosecution of the star route cases, and the report of inspectors Thibails and Shallcrass, detailing the result of most careful examination into responsibility of sureties upon bonds accompanying bids and contracts for mail service during the last four years. The report seems conclusively to show there has been imposed upon the postoffice department not less than 18,000 bonds, the sureties upon which were, with perbags a few exceptions, utterly worthiess, and were known to the parties who presented them to be worthless. There is reason to believe the same parties will present a targe number of proposals at the letting of mail service west of the Mississippi river, which is to take place on the 28th of this month, and I am advised the postimater-general would have no authority to reject such hids if regulary fin, when high are to be opposed the time when contracts must be examined, under these circumstances it seems to be proper that the intention of congress should be caited to this condition of law and a change be made by which some power may be vested in the department to debar from bidding, persons who have hitherto been entropy of mail service west of the Mississippi takes place January 7th, when hids are to be opened. There will probably be 40,000 or 60,000 bids, as the Star Route Instructions.

sible to investigate the responsions, or an open ques-if it is so held. This is under the laws nopen ques-tion, after sureties have justified and some post-masters have certified to them. Whon contracts are awarded time can be taken and good sureties ob-tained, but legal remedies for default are much bet-tained, but legal remedies for default are much betinformed. Now there is absolutely conclusive this denot that Boone intends to flood the departments with bids. The indications are he is pursuing the same system of bogus bonds. Under these circumstances you sak me if you have a right to reject all of Boone's bids. As the law stands I do not think you have the right. It seems to me clear there ought to be a change in the law in that respect. If facts stated in this report of Tidball and Shalleross were brought to the attention of the law-insking power, I do not believe there would be sny hestation in making the changes I propose in a day or two and to make such nile of the facts stated in the report is will relieve you of any necessity to keep it from the public. If therefore, you concur with me, I suggest that before you go out of office you transmit a copy of the report to congress with a request for legislation. Your obedient servant.

GEO. BLISS. Special Counsel.

Washington, Jan. 7.—On motion of counsel for the government: hearing of the case of sureties for mail contractors has been postponed until Wednesday next. Bail ranging from $1,500 to $15,000 has been suggested by 60. Bitss.

Information has been obtained from reitable authority that a number of civil suits will be instituted soon against several parties connected with star routs schemes, to recover large sums of money alleged to have been filegally and improperly obtained from the U. S. government. Most of the suits will be brought in Now York, as that is the meeting place of the parties who will become defendants, and where service can be easily obtained upon them. Very few, if any suits will be entered in this city.

Gee. Logan on the Fitz John Forter Case. Star Route Notes.

Geo. Logan on the Fitz John Porter Case. Cec. Logan on the Fitz John Porter Case. CHICAGO, Jan. 7.— Prilitate's Washington: "I propose to dight in a military way." said Gen. Logan to-night, referring to Gen. Grant's unexpected attitude on Fitz John Porter. "I shall permit the enemy to develop himself, and I shall then atrike, but I amnot prepared to say sutything about the matter. The time has not yet come. I wish to see what then Grant's reasons are. He has stated in his interview that he will soop have some reason to give the public for his unexpected change of position. He has not given any yet. This conversion of Grant has not changed a single vote in the counte, and you long be entirely sure the president is not going to reopen the case." Gen. Logan, whose speech in the Forter class is now so very much in demand as a complete history of the battin, is evigoing to reapen the case. The Logan, where speech in the Porter case is now as very much in demand as a complete history of the battle, is evidently not going to change-his mind on this limportant military question to which he has given so much study, on account of Grant's viewe." Being asked whether Grant could possibly have hed one evidence on any mang or have had any knowledge as to the different disposition of the energy of the different that his possession of the sense of the different disposition of the energy of the disposition of the energy of the disposition of the announced "certainly not. There is no new evidence. There is a new map. The map that is mentioned in the interview is the map of congineer officers which is printed in my speech and is the identical map which Gen.
